'ZE WICKED MENS, VERY MUCH CRUEL.'

'RENCH WOMAN PROTESTED AT KICKING A TURTLE.'

'Assassination ze Fish,' She Said, But a Policeman Refused to Interfere.

"Oh, Monsieur Policier," It was a dainty little French lady who poked. She had on a Parisian costume that fit her like a glove. There were waving plumes in her jaunty hat. There were high heels to her shoes.

Policeman Edward McCabe, of the Tenderloin station, square-shouldered, handsome of face, fierce of moustache, and resplendent in a new uniform halted at the choice little bit of femininity addressed him to-day at Broadway and West Thirty-sixth street.

"Yes, madamoiselle," said he in his choicest County Clare, as he tipped his lid.

"Oh, monsieur," said the petite one. "Ze wicked mens is what you calls assassination ze fish. Zey is administering to him ze beating, zey is kicking him in ze lungs with ze boot, zey is tying ze rope around hees arms, zey is a very much cruel."

"Huh, huh," coughed the big policeman. "I will go with you. I shall stop it."

The French lady led the way to the Imperial Hotel. A husky gang of seven were wrestling with an overfed turtle weighing 200 pounds. The turtle objected to being taken on the freckled elevator to the subterranean depth of the kitchen, knowing intuitively that he would soon be in the soup. A crowd was watching the proceedings.

"Zare," said the policeman, "Zare is ze poor fish and zare is ze wicked mens."

"I am sorry," said the policeman, "but I can do nothing in the matter. That is food for the hotel guests."

The lady was indignant. "I shall go to ze prefect of ze Society for ze Prevention of Cruelty to ze Animals," said she.

"But this is no zeh animal, madamoiselle. It is a fish," said McCabe.

"Zen I shall go to ze Aquarium and ze Prevention of Cruelty to ze Fish," said she of the high-heeled shoes, undaunted, and she boarded a downtown car.

TAKES EXCEPTIONS TO DEWEY'S REPORT

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S PROTEST IS HEARD.

Arguments to Show that Schley Was Not in Absolute Command.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The objection of Admiral W. T. Sampson to that portion of Admiral Dewey's report of the Schley Court of Inquiry in which he says Admiral Schley was in command at the battle of Santiago and entitled to the credit for the victory was filed with Secretary Long to-day. The document was brought to the Navy Department by Mr. H. S. Theall, of counsel for Admiral Sampson, and handed to the Secretary. It is as follows:

20 Broad Street, New York, Dec. 19, 1901.

Sir: As counsel for Rear Admiral Sampson, we have the honor to request that the Department, for the reasons below stated, strike out or specifically disapprove that portion of Admiral Dewey's opinion filed in connection with the proceedings of the Schley Court of Inquiry, in which he states his view to be that Commander Schley was in absolute command at the naval battle of Santiago.

1. Commander Schley was not in command at that battle.

2. The President of the United States and the Navy Department had decided that Admiral Sampson was in command at that battle and Commander Schley second in command.

3. The question as to who commanded at Santiago was not referred to the court for consideration, and evidence bearing on the point was excluded.

The protest then argues that Admiral Sampson's flagship was closer to many of the ships when the battle began than was the Brooklyn, and that he could have signalled as many as could Admiral Schley; also that the formation was by his order. According to regulations, this made Sampson in command.

TURNED OUT IN THE COLD.

Policeman Found Dispossessed Family Suffering on the Street.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Annie Deitz and her three little children were found by a policeman wandering in the street before dawn to-day, suffering greatly from hunger and exposure.

"They were taken to the Fourth precinct station house, where Mrs. Deitz said that her husband, having been out of work for some time, they had been unable to pay their rent and were dispossessed last night. The family had rooms at No. 369 Broad street. The husband had gone to friends to borrow money and the mother and children were awaiting his return when found."

MINISTERS TURN ON DONATION PARTIES.

THEY ARE TIRED OF GETTING SLIPPERS THAT DON'T FIT.

Led by the Rev. Albert Loucks, of Dutchess County, They Stand Together Against It.

I am handy at the needle. I can stitch a bug or two. I can do odd chores about the farm and preach when I am through. But I hate donation parties. Say, it nearly makes me swear when they talk me up at Christmas. With slippers I can't wear.

—Notes from a Minister's Diary.

Now that the Rev. Albert Loucks, pastor of the Clave Christian Church, of Dutchess County, near Poughkeepsie, has come out flatfooted and said he would not stand for any more donation parties, his example may be followed by some of our own preachers of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx.

The Rev. Albert Loucks is a blacksmith during the secular days of the week. He also kills pigs, waters the stock, feeds the hens and does other things for his neighbors, which bring him in a little ready money. He says he has no use for donation parties, as he makes enough to pay for his keep and board.

It is not known that the Rev. Drs. Parkhurst, Donald Sage Mackay, Thomas R. Slicer, David J. Burrell, Sewell Dwight Hillis or Lyman Abbott have expressed themselves in favor of the Rev. Mr. Loucks's plan, but it is generally believed they think favorably of it.
